New Jersey Driver Held For Hearing

A 69-year-old Stroudsburg man was killed instantly Christmas Eve when he was hit by a car on Route 611 near the Beaver House one-half mile north of Stroudsburg.

He was Jacob Halterman of 952 N. Ninth St., a lifelong resident of this area. It was Monroe County's only Christmas Eve fatality despite the heavy holiday traffic.

Stroudsburg State police, who investigated the accident, said the driver of the car, Edward Noumair, 32, of 515 Summerfield Ave., Asbury Park, N. J., posted $2,500 bond Thursday night.

Noumair is being held on a probable charge of involuntary manslaughter, police said.

State police gave these details of their investigation:

Halterman, well-known in this area as a gardener and employee of local business firms, boarded an inter-borough bus at N. Eighth St., Stroudsburg, at 9:35 p.m. He was enroute to his home.

The bus continued on its route, through Pocono Park, across Bridge St. to Route 611, then down 611 to the Beaver House stop.

Halterman left the bus at that stop. It was 9:40 p.m. The aging man then apparently crossed the highway to walk the short distance to his home.

At a point approximately 90 feet from his home, Halterman was hit on the right side by the Noumair car.

The man's skull was crushed by the impact. His right leg was broken. He also suffered numerous other body fractures, police said.

Halterman was killed instantly. He was pronounced dead by Justice of Peace William Walton, serving as acting coroner in the absence of county coroner William Andrew.

Noumair posted $2,500 bond before Walton. The New Jersey driver was released and ordered to appear for hearing on the involuntary manslaughter charge here at a "later date," police said.

Noumair was on his way to Old Forge when the accident occurred. He was slated to join his wife there at the home of her relatives where the couple were to spend their Christmas holiday.

Halterman's body was released to the William H. Clark funeral home Thursday night.

It was this area's second auto fatality in five days. Ernest Bond, 51, of Stroudsburg, was killed Saturday in a two-car accident a half mile west of Stroudsburg.

A third fatality occurred in the county the previous Thursday — Dec. 17 — when John J. Mack, 35, Nanticoke, was killed when he jumped from his runaway tractor-trailer, then was crushed beneath its wheels. This accident occurred just south of Mount Pocono.

Mr. Halterman was born in East Stroudsburg, son of the late Van Halterman and Carrie Matz Halterman, now living at the N. Ninth St. residence.

He had lived in the Stroudsburg most of his life and was employed as a gardener for many years. His mother is his only near survivor. His wife, Amelia Farmer Halterman, died six years ago.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at William H. Clark funeral home. Rev. John B. Bergstresser, Custard's Lutheran Church, Bartonsville, will officiate.

Interment will be in Custard's Cemetery, Bartonsville. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday after 7 p.m.

KILLED INSTANTLY on Christmas Eve one-half mile north of Stroudsburg on Route 611 was Jacob Halterman, 69-year-old gardener who had just left a borough bus on the way to his home less than 100 feet away. His skull was crushed; right leg broken. His death provided a bleak overcast for an otherwise clear and cloudless Christmas. It was Monroe County's third highway fatality in a week. THE DOUBLE EDGE OF TRAGEDY hit two families in Thursday night's only fatal accident. One: the mother of Jacob Halterman, killed by an auto near Stroudsburg. Two: the family of Edward Noumair, 32-year-old Asbury Park, N. J., man who was driving this car when it struck Halterman as the man walked along Route 611 toward his home. Noumair was en route to Old Forge to spend Christmas Day with his wife and her family. Impact of crash crumpled right fender of the car; caved in right headlight. (Daily Record Photo)

Three Christmas Babies Born At General Hospital

Three Christmas babies were born yesterday in Monroe County General Hospital.

Hospital records show that Mrs. Marvin Counterman, East Stroudsburg, had a son at 4:23 a.m.

At 5:20 a.m. a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Allen, Marshalls Creek.

At 8:25 p.m. a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Van Gorder, of East Stroudsburg.

Two Mayors, Governor To Air Dispute

Philadelphia (AP) — Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. said yesterday he will meet with Gov.-elect Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and Mayor-elect Robert Wagner of New York City immediately after the first of the year in an effort to work out a solution of the Delaware River water-rights controversy.

It would be the first time the heads of the two largest cities in the Delaware watershed have gotten together to discuss the 25-year-old problem. Previous discussions have involved only the states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The U. S. Supreme Court recently turned down an attempt by the city of Philadelphia to intervene in the court proceedings over the apportionment of the Delaware's flow on the ground that the city's interests were being looked after by the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The high court has yet to hand down a final decree on a tri-state compact that would nearly double New York City's share of the river's waters.

Oklahoma City, (AP) — A man and woman robbed a supermarket of about $500 Thursday night, wished their victims and a half dozen startled customers a "merry Christmas," and fled only seconds before police arrived.

Hopes For Peace Bright, Holiday Messages Indicate

The world unwrapped its Christmas package yesterday and found bright hopes inside.

The elusive star of peace seemed to glow more certainly. For the first time in four years, no guns thundered in Korea.

And in the capitals of nations, leaders spoke confidently of the future.

Radio Moscow beamed goodwill, declaring the coming year offers the "prospect of mutual faith and friendship" between the peoples of the United States and the Soviet Union.

President Eisenhower said "our hopes are bright" for peace. And Secretary of State John Foster Dulles added that "the past year shows progress" toward the sought-for goal of "peace on earth."

Such was the theme of the day, and it was observed, in many ways, in many places.

There were gifts, wrapped in tinsel paper, under glittering trees.

And there were gifts found only in the heart.

Both kinds of gifts were in commemoration of the birth of the greatest giver of all—Jesus Christ.

who gave His life for mankind.

In Bethlehem, where He was born, pilgrims knelt to whisper their prayers.

Churches, in lands around the world, were crowded with worshippers, come to pay homage in special services.

At each house, the workers had delivered a "Christmas basket" containing the raw material for a full family dinner.

All in all, during the weeks before the holy day, the Salvation Army League of Mercy had distributed 259 "sunshine baskets" containing small packages of fruit and a gift to persons in institutions throughout the county.

Young people belonging to the organization's several youth groups, went "caroling" on Christmas Eve. So did youth choirs from churches all over the county.

Some Salvation Army groups gave special services for "shut-ins." The tour of carol singing ended at Monroe County Jail late Christmas Eve, where the Army singers celebrated the season for the last time outside their own cell.

On Christmas Day at the jail, county sheriff Jacob Altomose and his wife gave the prisoners a "special treat."

The Christmas dinner was served "family style." Mrs. Altomose heaped dishes and platters with spiced such as boiled white potatoes, sweet potatoes, turkey and stuffing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, creamed peas, celery, pickles, bread and butter, raisin pie and coffee.

When the plates came back,

Eisenhowers Arrive In Augusta, Ga.

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith
Augusta, Ga., (AP) — "I am not going to be mad at anyone today," President Eisenhower happily declared this Christmas Day.

The President, ringed by gift-laden grandchildren, arrived here in mid-afternoon to spend the holiday with his family and to work the next 10 days on important messages he will send to Congress early next month.

Last night the chief executive, Mrs. Eisenhower and other members of the family gathered around the Christmas tree at the "little White House" at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Nodding toward newsmen who were on hand, the first lady noted the President's happiness and told him:

"Tell them what you told me this morning."

Agreeing, Eisenhower said that when he got up yesterday morning he declared:

"I am not going to be mad at anyone today. I was so happy to get away."

He was referring to getting away from Washington and the heavy grind of the last few weeks, preparing for the reconvening of Congress.

The three Eisenhower grandchildren played with Christmas toys as the President chatted.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, both smiling broadly, stepped from their special plane, the Columbine, in mid-afternoon after a flight from Washington.

On the way they stopped for nearly two hours at Ft. Benning, Ga., to pick up their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, his wife Barbara and the three grandchildren—David 5, Barbara Anne 4, and Susan 2.

The President and the first lady were accompanied from Washington by her mother, Mrs. John S. Dowd of Denver.

The President apologized to newsmen for taking them from their families.

"I'm going to do nothing but work down here," Eisenhower said, referring to the three presidential messages which he plans to draft between now and Jan. 3, when he is scheduled to return to Washington.

Bishop Refused Permission To Conduct Service

Berlin, (AP) — Bishop Otto Dibelius, head of the Lutheran Church in Germany, was prevented by the Communists Thursday night from holding Christmas Eve services in Stalinstadt, Communist-built city in East Germany which has no church.

Instead, he conducted services in two restaurants at a small village just outside Stalinstadt.

23 Trampled To Death As Light Failure Panics Crowd In Mexican Church

Toluca, Mexico, (AP) — A lighting failure caused by a short circuit sowed panic during a Christmas mass in a village church early yesterday and 23 persons were killed in a rush for the doors.

Some 200 more were injured as the crowd of 3,000 piled up around the two doors of the church in Temoaya, a mountain village 15 miles northwest of here.

The parish priest, Rev. Jose Cruz, attempted to quell the panic but without success.

"Mass was just finished," he said, "and the congregation was leaving the church. Somebody stepped on a wire lying on the floor. There was a blue flash and the lights went out. They rushed for the doors."

"The loudspeaker system has its own batteries and was still turned on. I told them there was no danger and to go out in an orderly manner. But they didn't pay any attention. We couldn't see much by the light of the candles on the altar and around the shrines."

"Then when the lights came on again, there was nobody in the church but me and the victims. I went around and administered the last sacraments to them. There was nothing else I could do."

Authorities in Toluca, 40 miles west of Mexico City and capital of Mexico state, went to Temoaya to make an official report on the tragedy. The bodies of the victims were brought here and will be buried today. All showed signs of death due to asphyxiation but autopsies will be held.

Most of the congregation were country people from the surrounding hills, many of them unaccustomed to electric lights. The crowd in the church was unusually large because of the Christmas midnight mass.

Christmas Holiday Death Toll May Set New Record: Traffic Fatalities Mount

By The Associated Press
Traffic accident deaths on heavily crowded highways mounted steadily last night and it was believed that the Christmas holiday death toll might set a new record.

At least 272 persons had died in all types of accidents during the first 30 hours of the holiday period which began at 6 p. m. local time Thursday and will end at midnight Sunday. Of the total 228 were killed in traffic accidents, 23 in fires, and 21 in miscellaneous mishaps.

The record holiday traffic death toll was 556, during last year's four-day Christmas period.

"Unless motorists put on the brakes, it's going to be the most tragic Christmas in history for traffic accidents," Ned Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said Friday night as the toll climbed.

The council had predicted 510 would die in traffic accidents during the holiday period.

The figures told little of the poignant human tragedy. At Versailles, Ohio, a Christmas auto accident left two children orphans. A mother and her four youngsters died in their flaming home near Flat Rock, Mich. Three young boys were victims of another fire at Gloucester, Mass.

At Welch, W. Va., an automobile accident snuffed out the lives of four pedestrians who were hit by a car police said was speeding.

Girl Born To Patrice Wymore

Rome (AP) — Erol Flynn's wife, Patrice Wymore, presented him with a 6½ pound baby daughter yesterday.

The baby—Angella Roma—was born Christmas morning to the swashbuckling filmland favorite and his actress wife in Rome's International Hospital.

Discovery Said To 'Denature' Atomic Bombs

Paris, (AP) — Paris-Press, one of the leading afternoon newspapers of Paris, said yesterday President Eisenhower's proposal for a U. N. atomic pool had been made possible by an amazing new discovery that atomic materials can be "denatured" to remove their destructiveness.

The paper did not give either the source of its story nor details of the reported discovery in the article which it displayed prominently.

Paris-Press said President Eisenhower was prepared to turn over the secret of the discovery to Russia, and that this would effectively remove Russian fears that atomic material might contribute to the world "nuclear bank" would ever be used against the Soviet Union.

The newspaper said American scientists had made the discovery and had perfected means for "emasculating" plutonium and other nuclear material which goes into an atomic bomb. Fissionable material thus "denatured" could never again be used for military purposes, the article said, but would be unimpaired for peaceful civilian purposes.

Tragedies Among Worst In History

Three Christmas Eve train wrecks — in New Zealand, Czechoslovakia and Peru — took a toll of possibly 358 lives, news dispatches reported yesterday. Two of the wrecks were among the worst in history.

A fourth wreck took four lives on Christmas Day in Pakistan.

A railway bridge wrecked by flood waters caused New Zealand's worst train disaster. A total of 166 persons are believed to have perished. The tragedy blackened New Zealand's Christmas and cast gloom over Queen Elizabeth's state visit. But her itinerary will continue as planned.

In Czechoslovakia, the Bratislava-Prague Express ran into a passenger train near Sakvice. The unofficial death toll ranged from 100 to 186 persons. Unofficial details were scanty from the Iron Curtain country but it might turn out to be the second worst rail disaster in history.

In Peru, a heavily loaded ore train rolling down the Andes grades on the way to Lima jumped the tracks killing six of the seven-man crew.

The fourth wreck — on Christmas Day — occurred in Pakistan. A freight train was derailed near Quetta, killing all four crewmen aboard.

The New Zealand disaster took place 250 miles south of Auckland. The speeding train — filled with many New Zealanders going from Wellington to Auckland to see their Queen — hurtled into a flood-swollen gorge.

Queen Elizabeth broadcast a message of sympathy to the victims' kin. Her voice wavered with emotion as she paused in her annual Christmas radio message to the British Commonwealth and the world, and referred to the awful wreck.

The official announcement made by Radio Prague on the Czechoslovakia wreck said "many persons were killed or injured." The disaster occurred around midnight.

The report said the Czech interior minister and minister for traffic left Prague for the scene. This indicated a major disaster but the government did not give the casualty figures.

A telephone operator at Brno told The Associated Press by phone that she overheard Czech officials place the toll at 186. Czech police at Hustopice, who are in charge of identifying the victims, reported "more than 100 persons" perished.

None of the Christmas disasters topped what apparently was the world's worst railroad wreck which occurred in the French Alps in 1917. The French news agency said 600 persons were killed in that wreck, caused when the brakes of a troop train failed. The agency said World War Two censorship bottled up the news of the wreck until the end of the war. The second worst wreck occurred in October, 1949, at Navy Dvor, Poland, when 200 persons were killed.

Couple's Joy Short-Lived; Find Son Dead

Warren, (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mervine awoke early yesterday to take their only son to see his Christmas presents, but instead found him dead on a landing at the foot of the stairway.

Coroner Ed Lowrey said the boy, James, 2, apparently fell down seven steps during the night. He died of a broken neck.

Lowrey said the parents told him the child was too young to fully appreciate Christmas and they doubted if he was searching for Yule presents. They were unable to explain his being out of bed.

Community Celebrates Quiet Christmas Day

It was a quiet, comparatively calm Christmas.

Monroe Countians spent most of their time wrapping packages, trimming trees, cooking mammoth dinners and watching the bright, hearty glow of surprise on family faces as they opened presents.

These were the outer trappings of the year's most reverently spiritual day.

For many county residents, Christmas Eve was a time for quiet minutes spent in the warming, candlelight glow of a church as choirs of earthly voices repeated the prophecies of angels and the story of their Christ.

Christmas services were announced and held by many local churches. Some were elaborate, colorful and comprehensive in their effort to mark the birth of the Lord; others were simple, brief and informal.

All the services were intended to fulfill one purpose: To remind churchgoers that the birthday they celebrate is that of Jesus, the Christ, in whose name peace could come to the world.

In East Stroudsburg, the Salvation Army's corps of volunteers completed its appointed tasks of providing for those who needed them.

At midnight on Christmas Eve, the group of volunteers, accompanied by a worker in the familiar blue bonnet, paid their final call on a list of 25 houses.

At each house, the workers had delivered a "Christmas basket" containing the raw material for a full family dinner.

All in all, during the weeks before the holy day, the Salvation Army League of Mercy had distributed 259 "sunshine baskets" containing small packages of fruit and a gift to persons in institutions throughout the county.

Young people belonging to the organization's several youth groups, went "caroling" on Christmas Eve. So did youth choirs from churches all over the county.

Some Salvation Army groups gave special services for "shut-ins." The tour of carol singing ended at Monroe County Jail late Christmas Eve, where the Army singers celebrated the season for the last time outside their own cell.

On Christmas Day at the jail, county sheriff Jacob Altomose and his wife gave the prisoners a "special treat."

The Christmas dinner was served "family style." Mrs. Altomose heaped dishes and platters with spiced such as boiled white potatoes, sweet potatoes, turkey and stuffing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, creamed peas, celery, pickles, bread and butter, raisin pie and coffee.

When the plates came back,

Mrs. Altomose said, they were clean. But there was still some turkey and stuffing left, some potatoes and some peas.

For Monroe Countians who had yearned for a good, old-fashioned Christmas snow, there was disappointment in store yesterday morning.

The day dawned bright, clear, cloudless and oddly sunny. All day there were comments that "it's more like Spring than Christmas."

One Stroudsburg man made the observation that Christmas morning looked for all the world like Easter-time.

Temperatures recorded on official instruments by Stroudsburg weather observer Pierre Lake showed a high of 47 degrees during the day.

The recorded low for Christmas Eve was 16 degrees, Lake said. Although the weather was bright and cheerful, several traffic accidents marred the holiday.

One of the accidents took the life of a 69-year-old pedestrian near Stroudsburg's borough limits. Others were minor in nature.

Throughout Monroe County, signs of life disappeared momentarily from streets in boroughs and villages.

Nearly all Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg business houses were closed. Traffic slowed after a temper-trying surge Christmas Eve.

Late last night the streets of Stroudsburg began to reflect again the spirit of celebration.

Most of the celebrating had been done in other places, however. In the quiet warmth of their own homes, churches and families, the people of Monroe County, U. S. A. had watched another Christmas come and go.

Whether it had marked changes in their lives or brought them peace in some small quantity, only they could know.

Church Pastor To Install New Officers

The Festival of the Lord's Nativity will be carried over throughout tomorrow at St. John's Lutheran Church, according to an announcement by Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsein, pastor.

At 11 a. m. Dr. Wohlsein will speak on "Recognizing Jesus". The service choir, under the direction of Richard Lindroth, with Richard Manheim as organist, will sing "At the Manger" and "A Heavenly Song is Sung." Christmas hymns will be sung by the congregation throughout the service.

The pastor will install recently elected officers of the church school and of all the organizations of the congregation. Thomas Schaller will serve as acolyte and A. E. Kitzman, Vincent Butler, James Hantjls and Olen Hagerty as ushers.

Flowers will be placed by Thomas Rinehart as a memorial to his mother, Mrs. Rosa Rinehart.

At 7 p. m. the church school will conduct its annual Christmas service in the church sanctuary. Members of the younger departments will present a program of carols, recitations and readings, while the congregation will unite in singing familiar Christmas carols.

The chancel and junior choirs will sing "Go Tell It on the Mountains" and "Ring the Christmas Bells."

Harry Deiter will serve as acolyte, while Floyd Fetherman, Woodrow Fisher, Jacob Kintz and Willard Kintz Jr. will serve as ushers. Members who have not returned their Christmas offering envelopes are requested to do so at either of the two services.

Memorial Rites Set

The annual memorial service will be observed at the 11 a. m. service on Sunday morning in Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

Forty-five members and friends of the parish died during 1953. Their names will be read at the service. Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor, will deliver the memorial sermon on "Eternal Life in Christ."

Flowers will be placed by Mrs. Grammy Staples in memory of her grandson, Marine Pfc. Charles S. Goetz, killed in Korea. The memorial bulletins will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Nittel in honor of their grandson, Keith Frederick Nittel. Victor Thulin, James Wallace, James Killgore and Robert E. Schoonover will serve as ushers.

Miss Constance Beers, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Beers and the late James E. Beers, who is home on Christmas vacation from the Yale Conservatory of Music in New Haven, Conn., will sing a soprano solo, "Come Into My Heart, Lord Jesus." The chancel choir will sing the anthem, "Palm Grove Carol," with Carroll E. All directing. Mrs. Anna Schaller and Mrs. Sarah Schubert will be in charge of the nursery. Douglas Townsend Jr. and Douglas Metzgar will serve as acolytes.

Robert Edward Terrill, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Terrill, will be received into the baptized membership of the church at 12:15 p. m. by the sacrament of Holy Baptism. His parents will serve as sponsors.

Church school will be conducted at 9:45 a. m. Ray Fellman, president of the Lutheran Youth Fellowship, will be the devotional speaker at the 6:30 p. m. vespers worship service in the chapel with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Walton serving as advisers. The illuminated altar trees in both the chapel and the main sanctuary will remain for the services tomorrow.

'Living Nativity' Pageant Presented On Lot In Front Of Mountainhome Church

At the Mountainhome Methodist Church last night the Young Married Group, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Harold N. MacMurray, presented a "Living Nativity" on the lot in front of the church, near the community Christmas tree.

The pageant was repeated twice, to the accompaniment of Wagner's arrangement of "The Song of Christmas," which tells in narrative form and in song the story of the birth of our Lord.

Among those taking part were Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vrolijk, Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John Black, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Reinhard, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Reinhard Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Reisenwitz, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Nauman, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nauman, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore M. Price, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Seigle. The broad-casting of the "Song of Christmas" was done by Paul Schaarschmidt Jr.

The "Living Nativity" will be repeated each night at 7:30 and at 8:15 to New Year's Night.

In the afternoon, at the Mountainhome Church, a musical vespers service was held. Earl Rose Jr. presented a program of Christmas music, and the Rev. MacMurray presided.

A large congregation filled the sanctuary for the Christmas Eve service from 11:15 to 12:15 the night before. This is the fifth year for this service, which has grown in importance each year.

Sunday School Lesson

By Newman Campbell

Scripture—Matthew 6:9-10; 28:16-20; John 17:18-21; Acts 1:6-8; Revelation 11:15b.

Jesus Christ referred to the Kingdom of God 96 times, and in 15 of His parables. This subject begins and closes the synoptic Gospels and opens the Book of Acts. It is the chief theme of the Book of Revelation. At the close of the Nineteenth Century no New Testament subject was quite so widely discussed.

In His Sermon on the Mount Jesus tells us to pray for the coming of the Kingdom. "After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven."

At this moment in history the Kingdom seems remote indeed. Instead of love, peace and God's will being done on earth, we see chaos, hatred, accusations and counter accusations, with the threat of war always hanging like a black cloud over the world.

At such a time it seems fitting that our 1953 lessons close with emphasis placed on the peace, unity and happiness that would come with the reign of God and His Son, Jesus when His Kingdom comes. We cannot know when it will come, but we can live so that we will be ready for it.

The eleven disciples went to Galilee, into a mountain, where the Risen Lord had appointed them. When they saw Him they worshipped Him, but some doubted.

"And Jesus came and spoke unto them, saying, 'All power is given unto Me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, unto the end of the world.' How many weary, unhappy souls have been comforted with that thought, that their Lord is with them always.

The disciples wanted to know when the kingdom of Israel would be restored, and they asked Jesus, He told them: 'It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in His own power.'

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto Me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." Then the Lord was taken up to heaven.

Jesus Himself prayed for unity among His followers all over the world. On Thursday of Holy Week St. John records His beautiful prayer:

"That they all may be one, as thou, Father, art in Me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us, that the world may believe that thou hast sent Me."

that sank in the waters near Norfolk last week.

On Monday night Miss Shirley Nasse entertained at a Christmas party in her home the students of the Analomink Sunday School who are participating in the entertainment to be held in the church on Christmas eve. Santa Claus was there, gifts were exchanged and refreshments served.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Pennell and children John and Ronald motored to Hope, N. J., to visit Mr. Pennell's grandmother, Mrs. John Hissom, who is ill.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Van Vleet visited Mr. Van Vleet's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bush and family.

Robert Cramer is home to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Cramer.

On Monday a turkey dinner was served to all the pupils of the Analomink School. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Louise Pensyl and Mrs. Emma Wolbert.

Last Wednesday night Mrs. Claude Metzgar, Mr. and Mrs. David Besseler and children, Barbara, Claudia and Dawson and Mrs. Clarence Beeher called on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beeher and daughter Laura Kay, near Tannersville.

Mrs. Fred Cramer visited her daughter, Mrs. Jay Fish on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bush of Wind Gap visited Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bush on Saturday.

Archibald Ott of Allentown spent Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moyer.

Candlelight Service Set For Sunday

The closing service in observance of the Nativity by the congregation and the choir of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church will be held Sunday at 4:30 p. m.

All four choirs of the church will sing. The church will be decorated, said Rev. Harold L. Eaton, pastor. The poinsettia star as the central motif with 60 memorial poinsettias and further decorations will adorn the sanctuary.

The service will open with a procession by candlelight of all four choirs comprising a membership of 153 people. This will be followed by a scene of devotion at the altar of the church, in which the chorus and the chapel choir unite in singing "Away in a Manger."

The following selections will be presented: Youth choir, "In the Bleak Midwinter"; Chapel choir, "Come to the Stable with Jesus"; Altar choir, "As With Gladness Men of Old"; Chorus choir, "It's Christmas Day."

Junior High school ensemble, "O'er Bethlehem's Town"; Youth choir, "The First Noel"; Solo, "O Holy Night," by Mrs. Ann George; Chorus choir, "I Can Light a Candle"; Chapel choir, and the ensemble, "The Wondrous Tidings."

Youth choir, "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming"; Altar choir, "Gloria in Excelsis Deo." The program of candlelight and music will close with the combined choirs singing "Silent Night" (with descent the benediction and postlude by Ernest Michelfelder.

Entertainments Well Attended

Portland—The Christmas entertainments held in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday and in the Methodist Church on Tuesday night were well attended.

Recitations and a pageant "The Story and the Tree" were presented at the Presbyterian and recitations and a pageant, "The First Christmas" featured at the Methodist by the primary department and juniors.

Santa made his appearance at the Methodist entertainment. Dr. John Wildrick, sup. presided.

The Baptist church will present their program on Wednesday night.

Captain Baker To Hold Service

Captain Baker of the East Stroudsburg Salvation Army, Citadel will be in charge of the half-hour devotional service on Sunday afternoon from 1:30 to 2 in the Methodist Church on Tuesday night. The Christmas theme will pervade the service and carols will be sung. All conversant patients are invited to attend. These weekly services are sponsored by the Hospital Committee of the County Ministerium with the cooperation of the hospital staff.

MEMORY VERSE
"Our Father who art in heaven, Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven."—Matthew 6:9, 10.

Sunday School To Conduct Yule Program

The Sunday school will present the Christmas program at the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Millford Crossing at 7 p. m. Sunday. Mrs. David Hostetter will give the Christmas story, illustrated.

At the Sunday morning service at 10:45, B. David Hostetter, pastor of the Valleyfield Presbyterian Church, Canada, will be the speaker. Edwin Hostetter will give several musical numbers.

Youth Rally Tonight In East Borough

The next meeting of Youth For Christ here will be a rally at 8 tonight in the First Baptist Church, East Stroudsburg.

The speaker will be David Hostetter, son of Rev. and Mrs. B. H. Hostetter, pastor of Missionary Alliance Church in East Stroudsburg.

The speaker is a graduate of the Missionary Training Institute of Nyack, N. Y., and is at present pastor of Valleyfield Presbyterian church in Quebec, Canada. Along with his many other duties as a pastor the speaker is studying at McGill University in Montreal.

Special musical selections will be given by Edwin, Albert and David Hostetter who are all home for the holidays.

Services Arranged

The Midwinter Holy Communion service will be held in Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church tomorrow at 11 a. m.

Mrs. Lucy Quig, organist, will play "Christmas Pastorate" and "Postlude from 'Adeste Fideles'." The pastor, Rev. Frank H. Blatt will present a short meditation on "A Child is Born."

The soloist will be Miss Barbara Tramsie, soprano, who will sing "No Cradle Was There and No Fire," a special Christmas selection.

Flowers will be placed by the Women's Guild.

The ushers will be Henry Koehler, Gordon Rarick, William Schoch and George Shick.

Child Baptized At Wesley Chapel

Bartonsville—At Sunday morning services at the Wesley Chapel Methodist Church, James Frailey Jr., was received into the baptized membership of that church. Co-sponsors with the parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Frailey were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sandt.

Rev. Leroy Bernard delivered a seasonal message, Christmas carols were sung during the services with Mrs. Clyde White as organist.

Special music was given by the choir.

Communion Services Announced

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered tomorrow morning at the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg at identical services beginning at 8:45 and 11.

At both hours the minister of the church, Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, will deliver a communion meditation on the theme "They Went Back Another Way."

Special music will be provided at the 8:45 service by the Westminster Choir. They will sing the anthem "In Bethlehem's Lowly Manger." At 11 the Senior Choir will provide the anthem, singing "Open Our Eyes."

At the 11 a. m. service the following new members will be received into the church family: Miss Elva Pryfer, Miss Ann Leister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Raymond, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fraser.

'Way Back' Topic Chosen For Sermon

Rev. Frank W. Wingerter, pastor of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, will preach on "The Way Back" at services in the church Sunday at 11 a. m. The ushers will be presented by the choir.

The Youth Fellowship will present a Christmas candlelight service at 7 p. m., when carols will be sung and the sound film "The Holy Child" will be shown. Adults and friends are invited to this service.

Mrs. Ashton Burrows, 940 King St., will entertain the Golden Rule Bible Class on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 30 at 2 p. m.

The New Year Communion Service will be held Jan. 3 at 11 a. m.

Program Given At Mt. Eaton

Saylorburg—A Christmas program was given Sunday night at Mt. Eaton Church by members of the various Sunday School classes.

The manger scene was presented by William Kotsenbader's class. A solo was sung by Miss Eileen Kotsenbader and a duet by Samuel and Earl Budge.

Recitations were by the following: Suzanne Butts, Linda Altemus, Fern Correll, Wanda Altemus, Arthur Mackes, Aletha Bacon, Henry Bacon, Bonnie Lee Bond, Judy Buskirk, Jean Snyder, Sarah Smith, Barry Mackes, Alice Jean Knowles, Calvin Kresge, Martha Smith, Richard Jacob, Patie Smiley, Connie Miller, Dianna Correll, Judy Williams, Freddie Faustick.

Special music was given by the choir.

Student Recognition Day Service To Be Marked In Borough Methodist Church

Student Recognition Day will be observed on Sunday at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church at both the morning and evening services.

At 11 a. m., the service will be conducted by Rev. James Pain, ministerial student at Drew Theological Seminary. James Barthold, student at Williams College, will read the scripture.

Young People Have Part In Program

At the morning service Sunday at the Mountainhome Methodist Church, the pastor, Rev. Harold N. MacMurray, announces that Student Recognition Sunday will be observed.

Students home for the Christmas holidays include Herman Weiskopf from Penn State, Nancy Ann Shinkler from Ursinus, William H. Clark from Michigan State, Diane Hummel from St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem; Gloria Bush from Abington Hospital in suburban Philadelphia and Jacqueline Hippler from the University Hospital in Philadelphia. All of these will have a part in the service.

Sunday night, the Senior Choir of the church will present the cantata "The Child of Bethlehem" by Walter. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. John Nauman. There will be carol singing by the congregation before the cantata.

The church-time nursery will be conducted by Mrs. Robert Altemose and Mrs. George Sebring Jr. Following the evening vespers service, the Senior Methodist Fellowship will hold a fellowship hour for the students and servicemen in the church parlor. Mrs. Elwood Hintze, student secretary of the WSCS, is the hostess and will be assisted by several high school students.

Topic Given For Service On Sunday

The practical value of daily obedience to the teachings of Christ Jesus will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Among the selections to be read from the Bible, in the lesson-sermon entitled "Christian Science," will be the following: "But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them; And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus." (II Timothy 3:14,15).

The following correlative citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will be read: "The substance of all devotion is the reflection and demonstration of divine Love, healing sickness and destroying sin. Our Master said, 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.'" (241:19).

"The Golden Text is from Isaiah (52:9,10): 'Break forth into joy, sing together, ye waste places of Jerusalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jerusalem. The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations.'"

The United States has admitted more than 40 million aliens since the end of the Revolution.

Rev. Roger C. Stimson, pastor of the church, will preach on "Christ, Our Hope." This sermon is one of the series of Advent sermons on "Understanding Jesus Christ." The Senior Choir will sing two anthems, "Behold a Star From Jacob Shining" and "Sing, O Heavens," under the direction of Albert J. Fregans.

The vespers service at 7:30 p. m., will be led by Miss Betty Clugston of Penn State; Richard Owens of Susquehanna will make a statement regarding the students' debt to their church. Rev. Stimson will respond with the church's appreciation of 25 students. Talks on the "Open Door of Religion in College" will be given by Ted Metzgar of University of Nebraska, Earl Groner Jr., of University of Michigan, Miss Dianne Lee of Penn State and Miss Marilyn Weish of Ursinus College. A number of the students will sing in the choir. Mrs. Theodore Hsu will sing the solo, "Come, Ye Blessed."

The church-time nursery will be conducted by Mrs. Robert Altemose and Mrs. George Sebring Jr. Following the evening vespers service, the Senior Methodist Fellowship will hold a fellowship hour for the students and servicemen in the church parlor. Mrs. Elwood Hintze, student secretary of the WSCS, is the hostess and will be assisted by several high school students.

Yule Program Is Presented

Children of the Kellersville Sunday School gave their annual Christmas program Sunday afternoon.

Clifford Randall opened the programs by reading the scripture. Sandra Haney gave a vocal solo; Mrs. Raymond Howell and Mrs. C. Clyde Levergood sang a duet. Sidney Jean Heller played a piano selection.

Recitations were given by Arlene Metzgar, Margaret Metzgar, Barbara Metzgar, Cathleen Metzgar, Kelly, Olwyler, Elaine Zugel, Dolores Zugel, Patricia Leon, Sandra Haney, Beverly Young, Lois Jean Young, Faith Kirkhoff, Barbara Randall, Sidney Jean Heller, Joseph Heller, Robert Leon, Jr., Gary Kirkhoff, Charles Deiter and LeRoy Metzgar, Jr.

Rev. C. Clyde Levergood offered invocation and benediction.

Mrs. Ada Wellershaus, Mrs. Everett Young, Mrs. J. Oscar Kirkhoff and Mrs. Gerald Metzgar were in charge of the program.

Santa Claus made an appearance at the end of the program.

The United States has admitted more than 40 million aliens since the end of the Revolution.

ANOTHER YEAR!

A little wiser?

"Perhaps!"

Accomplishments in the last twelve months?

"Well, John got a slight raise in salary in November. And we painted the house at long last. I suppose we could include our week's vacation in the Adirondacks in the summer. These things seemed so important at the time, but now they aren't even vivid recollections. Funny how insignificant they have become."

But aren't there moments which you do recall, things of which you are proud?

"Yes, now that you mention it, but you wouldn't be interested. They were such small things—taking care of our elderly neighbor during her illness—helping at the Orphanage on Saturdays—bringing our friend's children along with ours to Church... assisting with the decorating and painting at the Church... I'm beginning to see what you mean. These are the important events of last year."

Try the above experiment on yourself. It's amazing how time will give a different perspective to our lives. True values, values of the heart and spirit are those that persist and become real. Your Church is where you cultivate this all-important aspect of living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Making It Stick

On next year's income, federal taxpayers will get a 1954 reduction averaging out to about 10 per cent.

This will be a welcome relief from the record-high rates the public has been paying to support the government.

But this tax reduction will be meaningless, in the long run, until the government stops deficit spending.

When the government spends more than it takes in, it has only one place to get the money—from borrowing. Borrowed money bears interest and, sooner or later, not only the interest but the debt itself must be repaid.

The extra money each taxpayer may keep, as a result of the lower tax rate, may jingle sweetly in his pockets in 1954. But in the end it will not be a net gain to him unless the government is operating on a balanced budget. Postponed payments are not real savings.

That's why the Eisenhower Administration and Congress, having agreed to the tax cut, are under an increased obligation to reduce spending.

Accidents Cost More

How long, O Lord, how long?

How long will we go on killing upwards of 40,000 persons a year, and maiming many times that number? How long, for that matter, must we go on doing billions of dollars' worth of damage to our autos and other property?

It's our own fault, of course. As a people, we're trying to combat this horrible destroyer with slogans, and speed limit signs, and occasional fines. As individuals we're convinced that a serious auto accident is something that couldn't happen to us.

So the accidents keep on happening. We see the death toll stories in the papers . . . and every once in a while we get a financial jolt that should be a personal reminder that the threat is very real . . . and growing.

Such a jolt came to Pennsylvania motorists the other day, when State Insurance Commissioner Artemas C. Leslie announced that rate increases had been granted auto insurance firms operating in this state.

The places where the increases were granted show where the danger has been greatest.

The largest increase is for autos driven by unmarried drivers under 25 years of age. Lower rates apply where persons under 25 are married, and still lower ones if the household has at least one child.

Experience apparently has shown that persons with responsibilities have fewer accidents. That could result only from greater care.

Under a new classification, persons who drive their cars to work will pay more than those who don't. Apparently it has been found that the more a person drives—even to this extent—the greater his chance of having an accident.

This is the second auto insurance increase in more than a year. It's another strong indication that we simply have to, somehow, start cutting down on our traffic accidents.

Maybe the new rates won't kill us . . . but an accident could.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

They Can Still Cook

The notion that all the mothers and wives in America are at the quiz shows, the movies, the scrabble parties or cocktail lounge gatherings took a beating the other day. It was demonstrated that a lot of them still stay home and fuss around the kitchen. And it seemed pretty evident—which was more important—that they aren't content just to make a few fast passes at a cook-book and blame everything on the authors of such works. These gals have ideas of their own!

The occasion of proof was one of the really big shows of the country. It was a National Bake-off at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York where finalists in a competition among thousands of housewives gathered to cook for 50,000 in cash prizes and more iceboxes, stoves, washing machines, deep-freeze units, etc., than you could shake a cake at. This is a belated comment on what seemed to us to be a really major sports event of more basic importance to American welfare than the Rose Bowl game and the World Series. Good cooking is more vital to America's best interests than the longest end run or the best pitched baseball classic. And we had thought it was almost a lost art. The little woman who found a bang out of baking a cake and could whip up anything worth $25,000 had disappeared long ago, we thought. We have willed a load of pastry without discovering anything that we would declare apt to hit any jackpot exceeding two bits.

But, lo and behold, here comes a national contest and (of all places) in Park Avenue, New York, in which women came from every part of the U. S. A., including Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico, as finalists to snap on their aprons, turn on the gas or electric ranges and make with the eggs, the cups of flour and the grated nuts! It's a show worthier of much greater TV coverage. (There could even be a Broadway comedy in it.) Wives, mothers, the kids and even a husband or two were in the bake-off and they put just as much gusto and form into it as any athlete ever put into an athletic event. We dropped in. It was like seeing Sonja Henie skating on a sea of chocolate frosting . . . Marilyn Monroe performing over a hot oven . . . Babe Zaharias going into her backswing in a sandtrap full of whipped cream. These cooks were stars. They made the All-American Eggbeater Team.

But what has happened to New England cooking? What's become of the good cooks of the South and Middle West? A South Dakota housewife, Mrs. Bernard Kanago, copied the $25,000 first prize with a Kansas gal, Mrs. Joe Terrill, taking second and a Honolulu nun, Sister Maria Jose Cannon, taking third. There was a time when Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut mothers were on the first team when it came to cooking. Ohio kitchens used to house wonderful pastry makers. We've had some swell grub in Kentucky and Georgia. South Dakota and Kansas were still trying to whip up a decent griddlecake long after most of the country had perfected the five-pound strawberry shortcake and lady fingers with the almond, inside. What's wrong with this picture? The winners are always housewives with no background of affluence. Mrs. Kanago is the wife of a paperbanger and we hope he hasn't been ordered to lay off pastry. Last year's $25,000 winner was the frau of a cop out West somewhere. We wonder how this pair feel a year later and whether they blame it on the cake or the money?

Beria Speaks

I am guilty! What a stinger! I'm a low dog through and through! I'm confessing to all charges—CUZ I'VE GOT THE ORDERS TO!

Tom Fool has been named the Horse of the Year and our barn scouts report him strangely unconcerned . . . A horse can win this sort of an honor without drinking any particular beer or spending a week at Atlantic City . . . Professor Einstein, in advising Americans not to cooperate with U. S. Senate subcommittees hunting for spies, allows for no relativity in the matter of clam-ups.

MORE PROHIBITION THAT DOESN'T SEEM TO WORK

Robert S. Allen Reports

Warren Advises Clark To Face Congress Committee

Washington — Chief Justice Earl Warren made Supreme Court history in the speedy manner he established harmonious relations with the other eight members of the August tribunal, but that didn't keep him from talking bluntly to one of them.

It occurred when Justice Tom Clark asked Warren's advice on a touchy personal problem, and he gave it without mincing words. Clark hasn't followed the counsel, and it's doubtful he'll ever ask for more.

Following is the inside story: Clark has been under fire back-stage for several months on his refusal to appear before congressional investigators who want to question him about the Harry White case. He flatly rejected a subpoena of the House Un-American Activities Committee, on the ground a federal judge is not subject to congressional authority.

That was the second time this year the Texan balked submitting to congressional grilling. Previously he had rebuffed an "invitation" of the House Judiciary Subcommittee investigating the Justice Department. The probes wanted to question Clark about the long-unexplained Kansas City vote fraud case and other curious matters that transpired while he was Attorney General. He knew that most of the other Supreme Court Justices favored his testifying, but Clark was unmoved by this viewpoint.

Recently there have been reports in Capitol Hill that Republicans are planning another effort to hail the Texan before an investigating committee at the coming session. It has been intimated that "force" might be used. Whether these hints induced Clark to seek Warren's advice is not known. It is known that Clark talked to the late Chief Justice Fred Vinson about the "invitation" of the House Judiciary Subcommittee, and the Kentuckian told him to disregard it. Clark was sorely disappointed if he expected to get the same kind of counsel from Warren.

"As I see it," the Californian replied instantly, looking Clark squarely in the eye, "there is only one thing for you to do in a matter of this kind. You should go before the Committee and face up to the questioning like a man. You owe that to yourself, personally and professionally."

Clark expressed his thanks, and that's the last he has done about the matter.

The Texan also got the same advice from Justice Felix Frankfurter, the other member of the bench whose views were sought. The one-time New Dealer sternly urged Clark to go before the congressional investigators.

Note: Chief Justice Warren has received more than 30,000 letters congratulating him on his appointment, most of them from enthusiastic Californians. He is answering each message individually at the rate of 150 a day . . . Warren has retained the office staff of his Democratic predecessor, but expects to make changes in the next Court term . . . Frankfurter, who at 73 is the oldest member of the tribunal and has been eligible for retirement with full pay for several years, is boasting that he and Warren are the healthiest of the "Nine Old Men." Frankfurter declares he has no intention of quitting until 80, and then may continue if in good health.

How it's being cut—Approximately 90 per cent of the $5,000,000,000 cut in spending in the new budget will come from one category—What the Pentagon calls "mutual security programs": foreign military and economic aid, and the Point Four plan.

That's what Budget Director Joseph Dodge disclosed at the White House conferences with Republican congressional leaders.

He stated the Administration is aiming at a spending total of $45,300,000,000 for all security purposes, dramatic and foreign, in the next fiscal year. This year's figure is $50,000,000,000.

Following is a chart Dodge showed the legislative chiefs:

Fiscal 1954: Defense Department, $41,700,000,000; Mutual Security $6,000,000,000; Atomic Program $2,300,000,000; Total $50,000,000,000.

Fiscal 1955: Defense Department $39,000,000,000; Mutual Security $4,300,000,000; Atomic Program $2,000,000,000; Total $45,300,000,000.

Reductions: Defense, Department $2,700,000,000; Mutual Security $1,700,000,000; Atomic Program $300,000,000; Total $4,700,000,000.

Representative Dewey Short (R-Mo.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, voiced misgivings about these cuts.

"Isn't there some other place we can do a bit of reducing," he asked Dodge. "Seems to me as if all the cutting is being done at the expense of the security programs. Do you think that wise in these highly uncertain times?"

"We have very little choice to make reductions elsewhere," replied Dodge. "I'm sure I don't have to tell you that the three big national security items represent 70 per cent of this year's budget. That's an enormous increase since fiscal year of 1950."

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Beria Was A Murderer And He Has Died By Murder To Cut Him From Russian Life

The Beria Trial

The text of the Beria indictment is to be judged in relationship to the purges of other high officials at the 1936-1938 trials at which the prosecutor was Andrei Vishinsky, now the Soviet Delegate to the United Nations. The accusation against Beria is similar to the accusations against Trotsky, Kamenev, Zinoviev, Tukhachevsky and even Beria's predecessor, Yezhov. In a word, it is a standard indictment to accomplish the removal of a high official from office and from life.

Beria is accused of plotting with the "Western Imperialists," by which is meant the United States. To this crime, Beria is reported to have confessed, but no date is given to the conspiracy. It would be interesting to see the date, because it was Beria who set up a Russian espionage ring in the United States, stealing the atom bomb, the proximity fuse, the radar developments and much else. The testimony of Elizabeth Bentley, who worked for Beria's organization in this country, is evidence that he did not conspire with the United States, but against it.

The case of Bruno Pontecorvo needs to be examined in this connection. This is an Italian of British citizenship, who is one of the greatest scientists in the world. He has played an outstanding role in atomic fission and hydro-nuclear developments. He was not known to be a Communist and had access to every secret in the possession of the United States. Suddenly, Pontecorvo, his wife and children slipped out of England and showed up in the Soviet Union where he directs the atomic and hydronuclear programs of that country. Certainly, this was not accomplished by cooperation between Beria and the State Department.

To charge Beria with crimes, the indictment goes back to the 1917 revolution when Beria was about 17 years old. He then lived in Baku. He is accused of having been an agent in the Caucasus of the anti-Bolshevik Musavatist government. When that regime was eliminated and the Bolsheviks took Georgia, Beria showed up in Tiflis and became a member of the Cheka, as the Secret Police was called at that time. He enrolled in the Communist Party in 1920 and came under the patronage of Sergo Orjonikidze, Stalin's closest friend, whom Stalin eventually murdered.

This 1920 membership in the party has a curious sequel. Stalin took a liking to Beria and pushed him to higher ranks, but came up against the prejudice that top appointments should be for those active in the revolution. So Stalin and Orjonikidze revised Beria's biography, placing him in the party in 1917 and making him more eligible for the high rank he eventually attained. It was explained in his biography that he had been engaged in underground work among illegal Communist organizations in technical schools in Baku.

Malenkov, as Stalin's Secretary and Beria's close friend, knows that his biographical item is untrue. He therefore denounces Beria as taking his party record and revives the myth of Beria's anti-Bolshevik activities in Baku. But Malenkov knows that it was Stalin who insisted upon the fraud. Is he therefore also denouncing Stalin?

In Alexander Orlov's book, "The Secret History of Stalin's Crimes," he discusses many of the personalities associated with Beria's career. Orlov had worked for Beria's predecessor, Yezhov, and was to have been liquidated when he escaped. One of the most revealing stories he tells is about Orjonikidze, who was closer to Stalin than any other person but whom Stalin ordered liquidated nonetheless. In February, 1937, a great funeral was held for Orjonikidze, at which Stalin acted as pallbearer and chief mourner. Beria's entire career was due to Orjonikidze's patronage; nevertheless he did the hatchet job for Stalin, seeing to it that his patron was properly murdered and full vengeance wreaked on his family. It was a clean job with no loose ends.

Then something pretty cheap was done that gave away the show. Orjonikidze's birthplace was the town of Vladikavkaz, and to honor him, Stalin had it changed in 1930 to Orjonikidze. Seven years after the liquidation, the name of the town was changed to Dzardzhikaul. Had Orjonikidze not been murdered, why was it necessary to remove this honor to his memory?

Beria was a murderer and he will die or already has died by murder. But he did not conspire with Western Imperialists, meaning the United States. That is certain.

do about it, except to make an appointment with the extractionist.

I told him not to do it as yet. I was busy that day.

I went to another dentist, and showed him the X-ray and told him what the other fellow had said.

"Nonsense," he said. "That tooth isn't broken at all. That hairline—and that's just what it is—is simply a hair that somehow got on the X-ray machine and makes it look like a broken tooth."

After five years the tooth is still in my mouth.

The other story, about the dog and the truffle, also suggests a moral or two.

If we just go snooping in the dirt long enough, like the dog, we are bound to come up with some whoppers. Only most of these whoppers are not delicacies but stinkers.

For a while we hold the record as having dug up something extraordinarily important. Then someone else comes along and takes the record away from us.

Perhaps you can think of some other moral. Try it.

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

On her family doctor's advice an Akron, Ohio woman went to the City Hospital to have X-rays taken.

The lady had a pain in the stomach and the doctor suspected that she had a tumor.

The hospital authorities put her to bed and gave her a sedative and she fell asleep.

Six hours later a nurse put a rather heavy bundle into her arms. "Here is your tumor," she said. The "tumor" turned out to be a 7 pound, 3 ounce baby boy.

In Massalombarda, Italy, a 50-year record was broken when Francesco Monti's little mongrel dog dug up a truffle weighing 3½ pounds.

Thus, the little fellow earned for his master the title "Prince of Truffles" heretofore held by one Giovanni Tozzolo.

"A truffle," says the dispatch, "is an edible underground fungus considered by some to be a great delicacy."

There is, of course a moral to these two stories—as a matter of fact there are several morals, depending on your own ideas about morals. Different matters are constructed and interpreted differently by different people.

Take the story about the Akron lady.

Some folks might say, "That must have been a fine doctor who couldn't tell the difference between a tumor and a baby boy."

Someone else might think that the story teaches us the lesson "Never trust any doctor—always check a physician's opinion with another one, especially if an operation is involved."

I myself have had such an experience. I have a vague suspicion that I related this story before. If I did, please forgive me.

A few years ago I had a very bad toothache. I went to a dentist. He took an X-ray of the aching tooth. When the negative had been developed, he showed it to me.

"See this," he said. There was a distinct line on the tooth, clear across the surface. "You'll have to have the tooth pulled. It's broken. There is nothing I can

Employment Figure Exceeds 1952 Total By 750 Workers

Seasonal Drop Noted During Recent Months

Employment in the Pocono Mountains area decreased during the September-November period, according to the recent labor market letter prepared by the East Stroudsburg office, Pennsylvania State Employment Service.

Carl Denz, acting manager, said in his report the decline was in keeping with the seasonal drop common here. The reduction of employed workers occurred primarily in the resort and service industries where layoffs began in September and continued through November as the summer vacation season closed, Denz added.

Area employment is estimated at 13,000, a drop of 4,500 workers from the August, 1953 figures but an increase of 750 over November of 1952.

Also contributing to the decline was the windup of several major construction projects in the region.

Of importance, Denz continued, is the increase of 750 workers over last year at this time. This represents a gain of regular year-round employment he said.

Enlargement of the operating staff at Art Metal Co., East Stroudsburg, and Tobyhanna Signal Corps Depot was given as the prime reason for the favorable upturn.

Other manufacturing industries have maintained stable employment, except the garment and hosiery groups, Denz reported. These industries experienced periods of temporary unemployment. The spotty condition is expected to continue, the PSES manager explained.

Advent of winter weather also is expected to play a major role in layoffs, with construction and other outside work curtailed.

Demand for labor also decreased during September-November, Denz said.

The local PSES office received 588 openings during the three stipulated months as compared to 1,521 during June-August of this year. During September-November of 1952 openings totaled 497, which, by comparison, indicates a rise in employment opportunities this year, the report continues.

Local labor supply is represented by 432 applicants, 166 of whom are females who registered at the East Stroudsburg office at the end of November. Prior to September there were 162 on the supply list, 56 of which were females.

In direct relation to total layoffs, the local labor supply did not increase, Denz reported. Most of the laid-off resort and construction workers were from outside the Pocono area and returned to their homes.

Placements by the local PSES office during the report period also decreased, but were substantially above the total for the same period last year.

Figures compiled by Denz show 158 total placements and 51 clearances. Last year the respective figures were 114 and 38. Tops for the year occurred in June-July when 770 placements were made and 442 were cleared through the office.

Actress Claims She's Been Told To Leave Korea

Seoul, Saturday, AP—Actress Terry Moore, who yesterday wore her ermine bathing suit in a show for servicemen of the U. S. 10th Corps, said today she had been ordered to get out of Korea.

Miss Moore had been warned that the ermine suit would not be allowed after a Hollywood publicity picture and announcement that she intended to strip down to it for the Korean service men had brought a storm of protests from church groups in the United States.

The actress said she had worn the suit Christmas night after it had been approved by Lt. Gen. Bruce Clarke, commanding officer of the 10th Corps.

However, an aide to the general said today Gen. Clarke had not seen the suit before the show and had neither approved nor disapproved it.

The Eighth Army denied it or any of its lower commands had issued the order for Miss Moore to leave Korea.

Governor Issues Holiday Message

Harrisburg (AP)—In a 1953 Christmas message Gov. John S. Fine called on Pennsylvanians to further the full freedoms in our relationships with all men.

"May we prayerfully ask the common Father to endow with wisdom and insight those who preside over the destinies of individuals and nations so that they may find for our time that pathway to peace which is the work and pattern of justice," he said.

He declared that everyone should renew his personal dedication and national devotion to the mutual respect and enhancement of man's inalienable rights under God and Constitution.

About 62 per cent of U. S. energy consumption in 1952 was supplied by oil and gas.

ASSURANCE that some 90 Monroe County families had a full dinner table Christmas Day is evidenced here by bags and boxes of food which Elks charity committee members delivered Thursday. Committee members, left to right, include Fred L. Scheller, Red Lambert, A. A. Lauffer, exalted ruler, Edward S. Stevens, Paul Berner, John Lesoine and George Costenbader, chairman. Jacob A. Shick, 77, died suddenly at his Tannersville home Thursday. A mason, he had lived all his life in the Tannersville region. Surviving are his three brothers: Elmer, of Easton; George, of Swiftwater, and Andrew, of Reeders; two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Larn, Tannersville and Mrs. Anna Daily, Stroudsburg.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at Gantzhorn funeral home, Tannersville. Interment in Tannersville Reformed Cemetery.

Rev. William Foose will officiate. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday after 7 p.m.

Lee Shubert, Theatrical Czar, Dies

New York (AP)—Lee Shubert, president of the vast Shubert theatrical enterprises, died yesterday at the age of 78.

He died just four days after entering Mount Sinai Hospital for treatment of a circulatory disturbance. The hospital said death was caused by "the complete failure of the circulatory system."

Lee Shubert was one of three brothers whose far-flung theatrical business at one time was estimated conservatively to be worth 400 million dollars.

The eldest brother, Sam S. Shubert, died many years ago.

The youngest brother, the only survivor now of the famous trio of showmen, is Jacob J. Shubert, generally known as "J. J."

The careers of the brothers were closely interwoven — so much so that the life story of Lee Shubert was also largely the life story of Sam and J. J.

The three left Syracuse, N. Y., as young men and invaded Broadway. They became engaged in a violent war with the old Klaw and Erlanger booking business, then known as "The Combination."

The task was a difficult one — but the three Shubert brothers broke the combine and emerged eventually as the most powerful single group operating in the theater.

Monroe Countians Seeing Ghosts--On Video Screens; Cold Air Mass Is Blamed

Hundreds of Monroe County residents had "ghosts" in their living rooms yesterday.

There was nothing very unearthly about it, though. All the ghoul-like works of art were "ad libs" on TV.

A curious phenomenon, peculiar to the television industry, the "ghost" is a kind of "double image." Sort of like watching a 3-D movie with 2-D eyes.

What you see is basically this: In the front of your picture tube, there's a nice, bright, clear image of Uncle Don reading the funnies or Uncle Mittie cracking a borrowed gag.

All this is well and good. Uncle Don looks healthy and Uncle Mittie looks as though he had just pushed "Dragnet" off the top ten.

It's only when your eyes wander—as television eyes are wont to do—that you sense something amiss in the otherwise orderly world of soap, synopsis and simplicity.

There—over to the right of your picture, and way back in the back—is a ghostly (or ghostly) image of Uncle Mittie again. But it's not the same old Berle. Sort of berled down, you might say—starved and utterly gaunt.

Looking for all the world like something out of Charles Dickens, the "ghost" hangs around, blurs his way back and forth across your screen, until, at last, your enjoyment of the program has been finished off by a growing debate on "just what the heck that thing really is we keep seeing on our picture tube."

Before you become irate, pick up a hatchet and determine to smash this indefinable menace in your midst, let us say: Hold everything! There may be an explanation for the mystery.

Television—like radio—depends on air. Not just hot air, of which there may seem to be a preponderance, but on the atmosphere which surrounds us.

The waves which carry television "images" across miles of empty space are subject to interference of many kinds.

Not only do other electrical gadgets—such as diathermy equipment—create an uproar in your television set in noisy neighborhoods, but other atmospheric pressures create their own Maginot line against "good" reception.

Just as storms in other areas may cause radio programs to crackle with static, cold air masses cause a stumbling block for some TV waves.

Right now, there's a cold wave moving in from Canada. As it moves, it pushes masses of hot air before it. It also plays "Tweedle-Dee, Tweedle-Dee" with those invisible airwaves carrying your favorite television program.

In some cases, this may result in a double-image reception on your home screen. In others, it may mean interference with reception to the point that your picture will waver or your screen prove unable to receive the program properly.

No local television repairmen would go on record last night as to what was causing the "ghosts" on local TV. Best hunch was the one just set forth above: that a cold air mass was moving in.

One local TV man said he was waiting until he got a "letter of explanation" from experts in New York.

Whatever it is, don't throw your old set away, just yet. Let it sit around a couple of days, anyway.

TV repairmen were united on one thing: They're certain the current interference is nothing astonishingly new. The experts will

Slight Hurts Suffered By Four Youths

Four Stroudsburg youths were injured at 8 p.m. Thursday when their car ran off the road three and one-half miles west of the borough on Leg. Route 45019, near Shaffer's school.

Treated at General Hospital were Richard A. Serfass, 17, of 708 Rosemond St., driver of the car; Robert Smith, 17, of 1193 W. Main St.; Ronald Erdman, 15, of 111 Linden St.; and William Knapp, 15, of 1713 Pokona Ave.

Stroudsburg State police said the accident occurred about 500 feet off Route 611 on the minor road when the sedan in which the boys were riding failed to negotiate a sharp curve in the road.

Serfass suffered minor bruises; Smith had neck cuts, right and left leg cuts; Erdman suffered leg cuts and was admitted to the hospital; Knapp had a cut scalp. All except Erdman were treated at the dispensary without admission to the hospital.

No charges were filed, police said.

Cars Involved In Accident

Saylorsburg — A minor traffic mishap resulted in $250 damages to two cars here at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Brodheadsville State police investigated. Involved in the accident were two cars, driven by Joseph F. Bonbace, 39, of 103 Charles St., New York City, a longshoreman, and Paul Wilmarth, 25, of 4725 Longshore St., Philadelphia, an electrical engineer.

Police said the crash occurred when Bonbace, moving in a line of traffic on Route 115, halted his car to wait for vehicles in front of him to move. Wilmarth's vehicle crashed into the rear of Bonbace's car, police said.

Damage to the Bonbace car was estimated at $100; to Wilmarth's, at $150.

Disappointed By Gift, Kills Self

Modesto, Calif., (AP)—Mrs. Kathleen Vinyard was disappointed Thursday night when she unwrapped a Christmas present—a bottle of perfume from her husband, Joe. She flew into a rage.

Yesterday morning, Mrs. Vinyard, 38, died a short time after her husband found her in their closed garage, the auto engine running.

Police Capt. William Coulson said she killed herself.

Mrs. Vinyard had complained, Coulson said, that it was the fourth straight year she had received perfume from her husband.

Sawyer Gets His Christmas Wish

Seattle, (AP)—You remember the song about "All I Want For Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth."

Well, all Oscar Isaacson wanted for this Christmas was his upper set of false teeth. And he got 'em.

Isaacson, a sawyer at the United States Plywood Corp., plant coughed while standing on a pier Thursday. The uppers kerplunked into Salmon Bay.

John L. Metzgar, who operates a diving service, agreed to prove the depths for the dentures for $50, with one-third off if he was unable to find the teeth.

But he balked them out. Yesterday he had $50 and Isaacson had sufficient equipment to cope with his Christmas dinner.

Two-Car Accident Results In Injuries To Two Women

Kunkletown—Two Saylorsburg RD 1 women were slightly injured near here Thursday when their car was hit by a second vehicle. Brodheadsville State police investigated the accident and reported the following details:

Local Police Arrest Man On Assault Charge

An assault and battery charge is being filed against a Paul Cramer, growing out of an incident Thursday night in a local tavern.

Cramer was picked up by Stroudsburg borough police Christmas Eve and confined to county jail to await hearing on the charge and further investigation of his case.

Cramer, who told police he had "just come up here from Texas" allegedly hit a fellow customer in the tavern. No address was given for the man.

Autoist Hurt In Collision; Faces Charge

Mount Pocono—A Wilkes-Barre motorist will be charged with reckless driving before Justice of the Peace Emma Mervine here after he leaves the hospital where he was admitted for treatment of injuries received in a two-car collision Thursday.

State police said Alfonso J. Gialvickas, 39, received body bruises and deep forehead cuts when his late model car crashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer truck on Route 611 a mile south of here at 2:30 a.m. Thursday. He was taken to Scranton State Hospital and will face charges later.

Police said Gialvickas was traveling north, same direction as the truck operated by Harry R. Ayres, 35, of Cincinnati, N. Y. Gialvickas' car was demolished, police said. The truck received slight damage.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Some of the glory still lingers on the day after Christmas, too, in ways large and small.

There's a shimmer of ribbons in the usually drab contents of the wastebaskets, a giant of silver rain from the rug, a riot of color in the incinerator. It always seems such a shame to throw out all the pretty wrappings which engaged so much time and attention in the pre-Christmas days, but somehow our family is not one to untie knots and unfold paper while the gift itself remains secret.

And there's still plenty of Christmas candy left under the brown fluted cups that the favorite kinds came in, and plenty of Christmas dinner still in the ice box.

With a Saturday and Sunday to come, there's still quite a bit of the holiday freedom, too. A general disregard of clocks and time schedules, a casual attitude toward dusting and vacuuming and quite a bit of parading about in Christmas finery.

And in our house, there's still a bit of pre-Christmas preparation, too. Nancy got her sweater, all right, but in the raves with the knitting needles sticking in the yarn.

But actually the glory goes deeper than that—there's a joy in the casual greetings, a friendly warmth in passing the time of day, that means that the Christmas spirit is with us yet. If we could only hold on to it till next Christmas, what a world this would be.

College Girls, HS Seniors Invited to Tea on Tuesday

The annual Christmas tea for college girls home on vacation and the senior girls of the high schools of the county will be held on Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5 at the Stroud Community House. The party is sponsored by the Stroudsburg branch of the American Association of University Women.

This year arrangements are being made for the party by Mrs. Elton Dening, chairman of education for the club. She has obtained lists of local girls now in college from the high schools of the county and personal invitations have been mailed to them. However, she said that in some cases the invitation may not have reached the girls at school. All of the college girls are welcome. A general invitation has also gone out to the high school senior girls in all the high schools of the county to attend. Those who are interested in colleges can find out first hand from the local girls now attending those colleges.

Emphasis at the tea will be on informal socializing with reunion of former college schoolmates. ## Portland PTA Christmas Pageant By All The Grades

Portland — "The Spirit of Christmas" by Clarissa A. Randall of Mansfield State Teachers College was the title of the Christmas program presented at the PTA meeting last Thursday evening. Pupils of all grades participated.

Donald Miller of the eighth grade was the toy maker, to whom the two boys, Kenneth Pysker of grade seven, and LeRoy Lobb, grade six applied in order to find the Spirit of Christmas.

The next scene was in the yard in front of the church, where the big tree was lighted. Here the carolers and the choir came to sing and to leave their gifts beneath the tree, while the boys and the toy makers looked on.

The children of the first grade accompanied their song with the bells and sticks of the rhythm band. They played "Bells of Christmas" and "Santa's Helpers." They were David Farleigh, Tony Lynch, John Predmore, Stephen Sayer, Christina Carr, Kay Compton, Jean Encke, Alice Jewell, Virginia Miller, Eileen Rasmussen, Linda Reagle, Kathleen Reimer, Richard Scott, Jimmy Wheeler, Carol Ann Spangenberg, Mary Wilford, Ann Taylor, Larry Smith, Linda Wilkirk and Billy Strube.

The second graders were: Bonnie Ott, Margaret Matthies, Connie Lee Hughes, Louise Fith, Russell Reimer, Eugene Rushin, Todd Pritchard, Joyce Meyers, Walter Emery, Warren Myers, Larry Vogler, Peter DuCharme, Suzanne Snyder and Cecelia Capozzola. They sang "Away in a Manger."

The third and fourth grades sang "O Come Little Children," and "Merry, Merry Christmas Bells." The carolers from third grade were: Chairene Smith, Patricia Ducharme, Alice Frey, Jackie Barr, Barbara DeWitt, Alma Wisk, Karen Harvey, Terry Wilkirk, Betty Becker and Penny Poyer. Fourth graders were: Kay Ribble, Bobby Mirenda, Sandra Shupe, Kenny Hilliard, David Felker, Maralee Yohe, Albert Koeliker, Judy Fedorchick, Judy Linaberry, Raymond Hammerston, Billy Eppel, Billy Jewell, Walter Mack.

The 5th and 6th graders were: Carolee Frances DeWitt, Connie Miller, Rose Mary Barr, Mary Ann Pysker, Linda Kern, Marlene Rutt, Mary DeWitt, Jane Predmore, Rose Ann Harris, Carla Williams, Ann Wilford, Melanie Shoemaker and Linda Van Vorst. Harriett VanVorst, Kathy Carlson, John Fitch, David Harvey, Mary Lou Reagle, Mary Carol Sayre, Richard Miller, Jean Miller, Nancy Vogler, Earl Houck, Bob Reagle, Carol Pysker, Patsy Mahoney.

They sang "Carol of the Grasses" by Weaver, and "Christmas Lullaby," a Polish folk song. The seventh and eighth graders sang "Hark Ye, What Angel Voices," "To Bethlehem," "The First Noel," "The Lowly Birth" and "Sleep, Little Lord." They were: Jo Ann Scott, Dottie Fisher, Jane Tusling, Carol Hauser, Sheila Mason, Patty Ott, Eugenia Rushin, Cynthia Reimer, Elaine Nielsen and Judy Ott, Barbara Ritter, Ralph Predmore, Ruth Ann Miller, Alice Hilliard, Robert Horn, Barbara Kern, Janice Harvey, Joseph Mirenda, Lois Shoemaker, Marvin Shoemaker.

The refreshment committee for the next meeting to be held January 4, will be: Dorothy Andrews, Dorothy Boushell, Pat Dean and Shirley Detrick.

Oscar Kirkhoff and children, Faith and Gary, Mrs. Elsie Decker, Mrs. Joseph Metzgar, Mrs. Ada Wellershaus, Mrs. Steward Singer, Mrs. Ernest Williams and daughter Alice Jean, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Heller and children, Sidney Jean and Joseph.

Patricia Felter, Janet Shoemaker, Joy Benn, Stephanie Weidman and Douglas Beck.

The carolers and choir sang together "Angels in Our Fields" and "Silent Night."

The final scene was a tableau of the Nativity. Lois Shoemaker was Mary. The angels were Gloria Yohe, seventh grade; Charlene Smith, second grade, and Christina Carr, first grade. Fred Allen, Dennis Fuls and Marvin Shoemaker were the Wise Men. The Shepherds were Paul Hay, Dennis Patti and Rudy Ducharme.

The stage sets were constructed by boys of the seventh grade. They built the church, the stained-glass windows, the manger, and the backdrop for the stable scene. The members of the construction crew were Stanley Deiter, Earl Walter, George Myersen, Kenneth Pysker, Paul Batchler and Harry Wilford.

The carols were taken from the music series used in the school "Our Singing World." At the close of the pageant to the audience led by the choir sang several Christmas carols while Paul Crown of Shawnee, took several pictures of the scenes.

Open House For the Lees' Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Lee, of North Fifth Street, Stroudsburg, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with two special events this week. On January 1, there will be a family dinner at their home.

Their friends are invited to the open house on Sunday, January 3 from 2 to 4 or from 7 to 9.

The Lees were married on the last day of 1903 in Bangor. The bride was the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Tinney of Bangor. Mr. Lee is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Lee, of Stroudsburg.

After their marriage, they lived in Bangor where Mr. Lee served his apprenticeship as a toolmaker with the F. Flory Manufacturing Co., of Bangor. He also worked on his own patent and ran a brake shoe business in Bangor, and served as a heating engineer.

They moved to Stroudsburg about 15 years ago and live at 14 North Fifth Street. Mr. Lee is now employed by the Art Metal Co.

They have two sons, Russell J. Lee and Elwood A. Lee, both of Bangor, and they also have three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

They are inviting all their friends to the open house on January 3.

Wyckoff

SHOPPER

Christmas is over. All the wrappings have been torn away . . . all the gifts have been explained over and examined appreciatively . . . the tree has become a familiar part of the household . . . and we are all becoming quite adept at jumping over and circling the dozens of toys cluttering the floor, a role that reminds us of Eliza crossing the ice with the bloodhounds at her heels.

It was a wonderful day . . . a day that began in our household as in thousands of others the world around with persistent, excited voices saying, "Look what I have, Mother . . . Daddy, see the doll Santa brought me." It was a happy, lazy day, in which we all marveled anew at the kindness of those with whom we live out our daily lives at work as well as at home. So many people in so many ways were responsible for making this Christmas the wonderful, memorable treat that it was.

I cannot look at the gifts piled on one of the tables without thinking of my co-workers, and what grand persons they are. I cannot think of the long holiday ahead . . . the turkey that was the center of our feast . . . and many of the other blessings that are mine without having a heart full of gratitude for my boss, and the goodness of heart that makes him the wonderful, respected person he is. I can still hear his voice on the store amplifying system as he extended his greetings to each of us Thursday . . . he was a bit worried over us having such a long weekend holiday, he said, without also having some extra money in our pockets, so there'd be someone coming around with another surprise for each of us. He's quite a person, my boss.

Then there's Viola Feltham and her Nechi sewing machine. Somehow it's impossible to mention one without thinking of the other, and that's as it should be, because they worked as a team to make Christmas pretty special for a lot of folks. I only wish that women everywhere in need of a sewing machine, could see the lovely little mattress, sheets and pillow case Viola whipped up in nothing flat for a certain little lady of my acquaintance. Next best thing to having Viola as a personal friend is to have a Nechi in the home—and of course she is a friend to every Nechi owner, working with every patiently and generously to teach them all the skills which are so richly hers. I wish Viola might have seen the look on a little girl's face when she saw her name scrawled in blue embroidery across a pillow case. "You wrote this, didn't you Mommie," she asked. And Mommie had—but it was Viola and her magic needle that captured it forever in quick, sure, mechanical stitches.

So Christmas is over once again. Or is it? Santa may be home once more foisting his feet by the fire, but actually Christmas is still with us. It lingers in the pieces of erect sets scattered over the carpet . . . the turkey left over . . . the dishes of hard candy . . . the fruit cake wrapped in foil . . . the unopened bottles of cologne . . . the shiny pieces of jewelry . . . the nylon lingerie that will be such a wonderful traveling companion next vacation. We still have Christmas in the madonna pictures that have come to us . . . the stacks of cards . . . the affection and gratitude we feel for people everywhere. And maybe with a bit of luck and application Christmas can be made to last forever . . . or at least until another rolls around.

Gross Receipts Expected To Top Stores' 1952 Income

By James B. Gaffney

It's all over now but the counting. "Christmas is getting too commercial" seemed the main conversation piece for the last that point, for the true, divine meaning of the day on which our Saviour was born seems lost in the hustle of Christmas shopping. But just how commercially successful was this season? Most local merchants interviewed Thursday were of the opinion gross receipts would top 1952. All hinged on how much the public had to spend in the last-minute rush.

One thing is sure—1953's season held an extra day over last year since Christmas came one day later in the week, and for that reason the period itself may have been more lucrative. Shoppers had 25 days between Thanksgiving and Christmas in which to make decisions this year.

While gross figures may be higher for this Christmas season, the net is not expected to be as great—and so while merchants may have had the best Yule shopping season in many years, profits are not expected to be at their best. It's the "after-tax and expenses" that counts in the long run.

Jake Townsend's Texaco Service Station at 325 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, is rounding out its first week of business after a formal opening last Saturday.

Local business houses supplied practically all the material which went into construction of the modern station. On opening day "Jake" had lollypops for the tots, gifts and refreshments. His used car lot just east of the station also is in full swing now.

One of the area's newest industries, Poccano Shoe Manufacturing Co., Inc., is now in regular production according to Tom E. Breslau, vice president.

Located off Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg the plant manufactures men's and children's sandals for chains, department and individual retail stores.

Breslau said only local help is being used and reported the firm has continuous openings for male and female help who are interested in learning a trade and staying with it.

Extensive renovations have been made at Mr. and Mrs. Harry Black's Green Lantern Restaurant in Delaware Water Gap.

The couple cancelled their annual trip south this year to keep their restaurant here open. Paramount among the changes was the shifting of a short-order kitchen next to the main dining room for convenience. Mrs. John Jennings Jr. is assisting in part-time work.

Bangor Elks Urge Support Of Blood Drive

Bangor—George Remagen, secretary of the Bangor BPOE Elks, has made an appeal to fellow Elks and other interested parties to volunteer to contribute blood to the Monroe County Red Cross blood bank in February.

Remagen has appealed for a special effort to get 30 pints of blood. Recently, he pointed out, an Elks' club member was supplied three pints of blood in an emergency by the Monroe County bank and this past week four local donors called at the blood bank in Stroudsburg to replace it.

Remagen is anxious to have more replaced in this present drive for additional donors.

It was also reported by J. L. Williams, chairman of the charity committee, that he and his committee distributed numerous food baskets throughout the State Belt area to needy families for Christmas.

Walter W. Hughes, Exalted Ruler, announced that plans for the annual New Year's Eve party, to be held at the lodge hall, are complete.

Day School Pupils Hold Yule Party

The Monroe County Day Care School for Crippled and Retarded Children held a Christmas party for the children and their parents and friends.

The party centered around a large tree which was decorated entirely by ornaments made by the class. Presents were exchanged by the children and many gifts, donated to the children by local merchants, were distributed.

The party itself was largely the efforts of the class. Besides the tree ornaments, the children also made gifts for their parents and a Santa Claus corsage for the mothers. The girls decorated Christmas cookies.

The highest appreciation was expressed when this handicapped group of little ones offered two selections with the all-member rhythm band and two vocal selections. All present joined in Christmas hymns and seasonal songs.

The party was held at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church where classes are regularly held.

Give chocolate pudding a snowy topping! Sift a little confectioner's sugar over its surface. Small fry, especially, appreciate this garnish! If you want to top vanilla pudding this way, mix a little nutmeg and cinnamon—just a dash—with the sugar.

Groza "The Toe" Makes Browns Favorites By Six Points

World Champs To Be Named On Kicking

Detroit, (AP)—The Detroit Lions and Cleveland Browns are set to slug it out "Toe-to-Toe" in their National Football League championship encounter tomorrow in Briggs Stadium.

The Browns come into town with field goal kicking specialist Lou "The Toe" Groza eager to do his duty as he has in 23 of 26 attempts this year.

That specialty seems to be the margin of the six points by which odds makers expect Cleveland to dump the Lions, although it didn't work in the only meeting this year between the two teams.

In an exhibition game, Detroit rallied from a deep hole to gain a 24-24 tie.

Neither did it work in the championship playoff last year when the Lions won 17-7.

Besides, Detroit has a few "toes" of its own.

One of them belongs to the Lions' "clutch" halfback, Doak Walker. The ex-Southern Methodist perfectionist booted 12 field goals in 19 attempts during the season just completed.

Jim Martin, used only in three attempts, was successful twice.

Actually, Coach Paul Brown tends to scoff at the six points which his club is supposed to have over the Lions.

Brown, who has yet to taste victory over Detroit in seven tries, says:

"We played these guys once before this year, remember, and we know they're tough. Any number of things could make the difference when you have two such fine teams. And they have to be good clubs to win the division championship in that league."

When the Browns and Lions come to grips at 1:00 p.m. (EST) Sunday, each team will be trying for a repeat at the NFL championship.

Cleveland took it in its league debut in 1950. Detroit looks back fondly on last season, when it won the crown.

West Virginia Has Big Role Against Tech

New Orleans, (AP)—Coach Art Lewis' diet of big, fast linemen and powerful backs brought West Virginia from a lean and hungry look to tenth ranking football power after six decades of relative obscurity.

The Paul Bunyan sized Mountaineers make their first start in a major bowl game in the Sugar Bowl classic here New Year's Day. And nothing could boost them higher in national prestige than a victory over Georgia Tech, the bowl's defending champion.

Lewis, who took over at the Morgantown school in 1950, has his own ideas about the outcome of the game. He scoffs at the fact that the swift Tech team is a two-touchdown favorite.

His outlook is simple: "We can beat the hell out of Tech."

The six foot two coach has imbued his huge squad with the same philosophy.

Tackle Bruce Bosely, one of Lewis' brightest students, contends that "We won't beat Tech by more than two touchdowns."

The Mountaineers' outlook is refreshing, but Tech is tough and is the best outfit a West Virginia squad has faced in years.

West Virginia rolled to eight victories against nine opponents during the season, but no opponent stacked up as the same caliber as Tech.

It was the West Virginia schedule which caused some criticism of the Mountaineers' selection as a Sugar Bowl team. But West Virginia whipped Pitt which in turn gave Notre Dame one of its toughest battles before losing 17-14 and held Orange Bowl losing Oklahoma to a 7-7 tie.

Tech rolled past eight opponents, lost to Notre Dame and Alabama and tied Florida. Tech's dazzling offense, guided by halfbacks Leon Hardeman and Bill Teas, stands as a roadblock for the ambitious Mountaineers in their drive for national prestige.

ALTHOUGH the Detroit Lions are defending champions in the National Pro Football league, the Cleveland Browns are favored to whip the Lions in the playoff game in Detroit's Briggs stadium Sunday, December 27. The Lions are coached by Buddy Parker and the Browns by Paul Brown. Expected to figure prominently in game for Browns are Otto Graham, ace quarterback, and George Young, defensive end. Lions' leading roles may be played by Quarterback Bobby Layne and Halfback Doak Walker.

Lafayette Small Cage Field Leader

New York (AP)—When it comes to traveling the salesman doesn't have a thing on the basketball player, especially during the Christmas holidays.

From New York to Portales, N. M., the dribbling demons will be starred in 16 holiday basketball tournaments. The big ranking teams are in action and so are the little guys.

Six members of the top ten, Duquesne (3), Oklahoma A & M (5), Western Kentucky (6), Fordham (7), North Carolina State (9), and Holy Cross (10) are taking part in the court carnivals.

The jousting opens today with the holiday festival in New York's Madison Square Garden, the Big Seven tourney at Kansas City and the Hofstra college invitational at Hempstead, N. Y.

Things warm up in earnest Monday night with 11 tourneys, featured by the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C., and the Oklahoma City all-college fust. The Sugar Bowl invitational gets going Tuesday and the all-American at Owensboro, Ky., starts Wednesday.

Lafayette appears to be the class of the small college field in the Hofstra tourney. Today's program matches American U and Hofstra and Lafayette and Cortland. Monday Delaware meets Wagner and Lehigh opposes Wesleyan.

Vet Major League Pilot Is Dead

Lawrence, Mass. (AP)—Patrick J. "Patsy" Donovan, 88, who spent 17 seasons in major league baseball as an outfielder and manager and piloted five teams, died at his home yesterday after a long illness.

In after years Donovan often claimed he was instrumental in bringing Babe Ruth to the Boston Red Sox in 1914 through his acquaintance with one of the Catholic Xaverian brothers who coached Ruth at a Baltimore orphan home.

Donovan, who was born in County Cork, Ireland, March 16, 1865, and came to the United States at the age of 3, played in 1,806 major league games with the Boston Red Sox, Brooklyn, Washington, St. Louis Nationals and Pittsburgh Pirates. He made 2,253 hits, 1,326 runs and in nine of his 17 seasons was a .300 hitter for a lifetime batting average of .313.

He broke into organized baseball in 1886 with Lawrence of the old New England League.

Blue - Gray Joust Draws Pro Scouts

Montgomery, Ala. (AP)—For the love of sport—and perhaps a pro contract—48 college seniors exhibit their talents once again today in the annual Blue-Gray gridiron joust.

At least eight coaches and scouts from the ranks of the salaried performers are expected to watch the high-spirited all-stars in their final game of the year.

Of the nearly 700 backs and linemen who have played in the 14 previous Blue-Gray encounters, perhaps 200 or more went on to professional football fame.

Charley Trippi, Honchy Hoernschmeyer, Eddie Price, Harry Gilmer, Ken Kavanaugh, Travis Tidwell . . . Those are just a few. Three of the alumni—Lou Creekmur of the Detroit Lions, Charley Bednarik of the Philadelphia Eagles and Tommy Thompson of the Cleveland Browns—are on the 1953 Associated Press all-pro team.

With a weather forecast of cloudy and cold, both squads this year are counting heavily on the passing ability of four of the nation's best aerial performers.

The Yankees have Tony Rados of Penn State, rated No. 5 in the country this year, and Don Rydall of Utah, No. 6. Together they racked up 2,905 yards during the season.

For the Rebels, the aerial hopes rest largely on Arkansas' Lamar McHan, whose unerring accuracy earned him seventh place in the national ratings, and Don Ellis of Texas A. & M., the ninth best. Their total yardage through the air was 2,057. Jackie Parker, the third string All-American from Mississippi State, is another Southern threat.

On the ground, the Northerners have been working Jack Cross of Utah, Ralph Ceece of Villanova, Joe Ujohai of Gettysburg and Dick Jones of Penn State.

Confederate ball carriers include tough Max McGee from Tulane, Ralph Paolone of Kentucky and Jerry Marchand of Louisiana State.

Veteran hunter Putnam Pearson of Keene, N. H., has bagged 37 deer in the last 37 years.

South Downs Yankees 20-0 Fourth Time In Six Years As Bratkowski, Mims Star

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Zeke Bratkowski, setting up all three touchdowns with his great passing arm and kicking toe, quarterbacked a smashing Rebel team to a 20-0 victory over the Yankees last night in the Shrine's annual North-South college all-star football classic.

The Georgia Brat rifled passes of 30 and 33 yards to his teammate, John Carson, to set the stage for two South scores and he engineered the other by booting a 49-yard beauty out of bounds just inches from the North goal.

Spartan Backs Check Passing For Rose Bowl

Pasadena, Calif. (AP)—The Michigan State quarterbacks Nos. 1 and 2, Tom Yewic and Earl Morrill, did most of the passing in the Spartans' Christmas workout yesterday.

It was a brief workout, about an hour and a half in the morning, and it consisted largely of passing drills.

Coach Biggie Munn then gave the Rose Bowl squad the afternoon to themselves.

Their opponents for the New Year's Day classic, the UCLA Bruins, had the entire day off, most of them working out on turkey at their homes. Coach Red Sanders has called them back for resumed practice sessions tomorrow.

It was the fourth victory for the South in the 6-year-old series. The North has won only once. Last year's game was a thrilling 21-21 tie battle.

Santa Anita Launches Big Race Program

Arad, Calif. (AP)—Santa Anita Park launches its 17th winter meeting today with an ambitious program that will see a record $3,100,000 awarded to horsemen in prize money during the 50-day meeting.

Upwards of 50,000 fans are expected for the opening day, which features the $20,000 Palos Verdes Handicap for 3-year olds and up at seven furlongs.

Big interest of the program, however, will be the christening of the plant's new $250,000 grass course, which runs from a hillside point above the main dirt racing strip and winds up circling inside the track.

Famous Horse Breeder Dies

New York (AP)—Walter J. Salmon, widely known real estate dealer and thoroughbred horse breeder, died at his Manhattan home yesterday after a brief illness. He was about 80.

In 1899 Salmon obtained a long-term lease on a tract at 42nd St. and 5th Ave., which was regarded as one of the most valuable pieces of property in the world. It was here that the 60-story Salmon tower was erected in 1931 to become a New York landmark.

The products of Mereworth Farm included Display, winner of the Preakness in 1926; Dr. Freedom, Preakness victor in 1929; and Battleship, winner of the Grand National at Liverpool, England, in 1938.

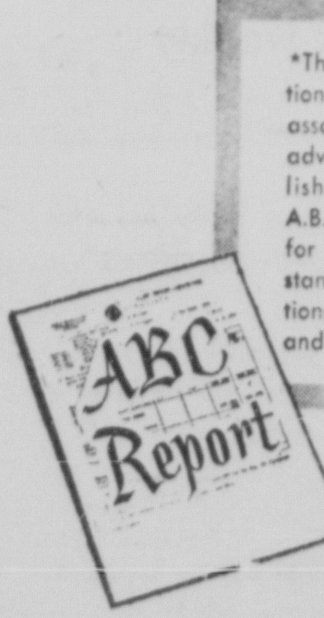

Oh, WHERE is my wandering ad tonight?

That's a fair question and deserves a factual answer. When you buy newspaper advertising you have an investment in every copy of the paper that carries your sales message because the circulation of the newspaper is also the circulation of your advertising. So, what you get in return for your advertising dollars depends on the newspaper's circulation. In order that you may buy space in this newspaper as you would make any sound business investment, we hold membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations,* well known to advertisers and publishers as A.B.C. Only publications with paid circulation—evidence that people want the paper—are eligible for membership.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office to make a thorough audit of our circulation records. The FACTS that he obtains as a result of the audit are published in A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; Where it goes; How obtained; How much people pay for our paper, and many other FACTS that you need in order to KNOW what you get for your advertising money.

It's never necessary for our advertisers to ask, "Oh, where is my wandering ad?" They get the FACTS from our A.B.C. report and KNOW. Ask for a copy today.

*The Audit Bureau of Circulations is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,450 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. established a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring circulation and methods for auditing and reporting circulation FACTS.

Drake Basketball Player Turns Down "Fix" Offer In Game With Iowa State

Des Moines, AP—A Drake University basketball player approached to "fix" the score of the Iowa State contest last Tuesday, "conducted himself conscientiously and commendably."

That is the opinion of Drake Coach and Athletic Director Jack McClelland who refused, however, to identify the player to avoid causing the athletes "further embarrassment."

The Des Moines Register said the player was forward Ben Bumby, a St. Louis senior. The paper quoted him as saying he was approached by a person who "mentioned $300 one time and $500 another time." Bumby refused and reported to McClelland.

The Register quoted Bumby as saying the man who approached him wanted Drake to lose by at least eight points, preferably by 10.

Staging a brisk rally after Drake had wiped out a 12-point lead to tie the score at 54-all, Iowa State won the game, 69-59. The contest was featured by an individual scoring duel between Bumby and Dutch Van Cleave who made 18 points for Iowa State, one more than Bumby.

McClelland said, "We learned several days before the game that the approach had been made to a member of our squad. We reported the incident immediately to both the FBI and the State Bureau of Investigation. Acting upon their advice, we contacted the Des Moines Detective Bureau. The matter is now in the hands of the proper authorities. Any further comment would come from them."

Iowa State Coach Chick Sutherland told radio station WOI at Ames today he knew nothing of the fix attempt until he read about it. He said "There was nothing in the ball game that would indicate anything was wrong."

Sutherland said he had seen Drake play two other games and "I couldn't tell any difference between Drake's play in those contests and the Iowa State game."

He had high praise for Bumby, saying he figured Ben was Drake's best player.

Des Moines Chief of Detectives R. E. O'Brien said "We haven't reached a final conclusion on the case." A Des Moines man has been questioned but is not being held.

Minelli Is Favor Over Bill Wilson

Boston, AP—Italian welterweight Livio Minelli is expected to give rising young Wilbur Wilson of Boston the stiffest test of his boxing career tonight in a nationally televised 10-rounder at Mechanics Building.

Minelli, ranked among the world's top 10 welters, rates the 8-5 choice but Bostonians who recall Wilson's wafer-thin split decision loss to Danny Bang Bang Womber of Chicago in a TV match last October give Wilson a good chance.

Womber originally was signed to meet Wilson tonight, but Dr.

Wally Campbell Named Top Rookie

Washington, D. C. — Wally Campbell, the Trenton (N. J.) bomb and Bill Holland, 1948 winner of the Indianapolis 500 were voted the nation's sports writers this week. Campbell, who entered AAA big car racing mid-season of 1953, blazed a sensational victory trail from Eastern Pennsylvania to mid-Iowa and finished fourth in the over-all Eastern sprint standings.

Vincent Nardiello advised Womber to take a long rest after he took a bad beating recently from Art Aragon on the West Coast.

Tonight's bout will go over the ABC cable starting at 9 p. m. (EST) with New England blacked out.

Woodlands Best Cover For Soil, Water Conservation

A well managed stand of forest trees has long been recognized as the very best type of cover for soil and water conservation. There is less soil loss and less runoff from good woodland areas than from any other type of land.

Since 78 per cent of Monroe County land area is woodland, it becomes apparent that proper management is imperative.

Proper management consists of more than fire protection and elimination of grazing by livestock. While both of these are basic, it is also necessary to make improvement cuttings if we are to maintain the quality and productivity of our forested areas.

This is the time of year when most farmers can devote some time to the improvement of their woodlots. The cropland does not require so much of their time and attention now as during much of the year.

A few hours well spent each winter can do much to improve that woodlot. It should not be considered an idle area, but rather it should contribute to the farm income the same as any other portion of the farm.

Guard against laziness, leaving things take their course. That's not like the real business affairs.

April 24 to May 23 (Taurus)
At first glance the outlook may lead to three you off balance. Be careful, think back. What happened last time similar conditions came up? Make use of your personality, humor.

May 24 to June 23 (Gemini)
A so-so day. Could be okay, then again the opposite. It becomes one to be alert, ready to act on short notice, but with caution, adherence to sound, fundamental rules.

June 24 to July 23 (Cancer)
You may have to adhere strictly to routine today. There may be some hidden emotion, conflict with your plans, but both can be overcome.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)
Don't let things confuse you and, if a situation seems difficult, talk matters over with loved ones, friends. There's always a way, and tomorrow's another day.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)
You may have to call upon all your wits and craft to counteract opposition. You will find your natural dexterity and reasoning power to bridge obstacles more quickly.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)
Libra symbolizes balance, equalizing of powers, you can overcome hardships with determination, intelligence, but you must keep cultivating these gifts.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)
A progressive day. Starts slowly.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius)
You may need some prodding, an extra push, to gather significance of possibilities. Realize this and you can help things along with extra effort.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn)
Commercial, professional, goal real business affairs at almost level low. Whether they are made level or worse depends on you. Thought, time and initiative are needed to achieve.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius)
Most activities should progress; steps indicate an upward trend for well-managed endeavors. Research, wise counsel needed—this sensible trend.

February 24 to March 23 (Pisces)
Not much of a day for new, untired propositions. Interest yourself in others and you will gain unexpected benefits. Give thanks for blessings.

March 24 to April 23 (Aries)
Guard against laziness, leaving things take their course. That's not like the real business affairs.

April 24 to May 23 (Taurus)
At first glance the outlook may lead to three you off balance. Be careful, think back. What happened last time similar conditions came up? Make use of your personality, humor.

May 24 to June 23 (Gemini)
A so-so day. Could be okay, then again the opposite. It becomes one to be alert, ready to act on short notice, but with caution, adherence to sound, fundamental rules.

Income Tax Collections Start Jan. 3

District Director Joseph J. Lawler and members of his staff at the Scranton District Internal Revenue Service have drawn up plans for the coming income tax drive.

An estimated one million returns of all type taxes are expected during the annual campaign that reaches its climax on March 15, 1954.

This year, Director Lawler said, the watchword of the Internal Revenue Service's 390 employees will be "courtesy and service to the public."

In ordering employees to do everything possible to aid the taxpayers, Director Lawler passed on advice offered by the Washington headquarters of the service for handling citizens who are puzzling over Form 1040.

The advice included such pointers as information clerks, late telephone service, and "properly" organized lines for those who want blank forms only, persons who have their forms filled out and want them checked, persons who want help with their forms, persons with complex problems, and taxpayers who have just one question.

Director Lawler also advised his key men to have monitors patrolling the line that usually forms as the March 15 deadline draws near, so that help will be given to the taxpayer on simple problems. He also directed that chairs and benches be provided for the aged and infirm.

The collection period starts of-

PROVING metal name-and-address plates for Monroe County's 1955 assessment rolls and tax duplicates is Mrs. John Walton at Courthouse. She is using a new addressograph machine which prints names and addresses on rolls automatically, will do away with months of tedious—and costly—hand copying and type-writing. Machine was delivered recently. It will aid in development of permanent assessment record system. (Daily Record Photo)

Mrs. Charles Dutt, who has taken a position as auxiliary clerk in the post office, helped there during the week Mrs. Thomas Brod-ficially after Jan. 3, 1954. Before that date, the director will announce points where the taxpayers will be able to file their returns and where employees will be stationed to give all possible assistance.

head and Mrs. Arthur Lehr have done yeoman work with the heavy holiday mail that comes in and out of the office, often working overtime to see that all mail is dispatched promptly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryden Taylor were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. H. W. Brodhead, honoring the birthday of Mrs. Brodhead.

Harvey Terpenning will spend

Christmas Day with his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. G. Raymond Hood, of East Stroudsburg. Mr. Terpenning's nephew, Charles Foster, of Wildwood, N. J., was here Sunday to visit with him.

Mr. and Mrs. William Snow have returned from a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Durick and family of Tonawanda, N. Y. While they were visiting Mrs. Snow's brother-in-law and sister, their son Ricky, who stayed with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jennings, Sr., celebrated his first birthday on Sunday, Dec. 20.

Washington's Crossing Of Delaware River Reenacted

By Russell Landstrom

Washington's Crossing, Pa., (AP) — It is Christmas night of 1776.

George Washington speaks in final councils of war.

"Notwithstanding the discouraging accounts . . . I am determined . . . to cross the river and make the attack upon Trenton in the morning."

"This is it, gentlemen—victory or death. That is our only watchword."

It is indeed a haggard moment for the new American republic. The fortunes of the revolution are ebbing. The great cause is humiliated.

Here is an army existing on its nerves. Some 2,400 men live out bitter December days along the Delaware, an army of shreds and patches, leaving bloody footprints in the snow, hungry, gripped with dysentery.

Yet a flame keeps burning, a hope stays alive.

Then the crossing itself, in snow, ice and sleet; the agonizing march to Trenton; and the humbling of the vaunted Hessian mercenaries in less than two hours after the first shot had been fired.

Much of this was re-enacted dramatically yesterday, in full costume.

Soon after midday eight men, in the uniforms of the Revolutionary War period, gathered in the same farmhouse where Washington had his headquarters. They stood around the huge council table in the main room, furnished with authentic pieces and dominated by a fireplace the entire length of one great wall.

Here the eight spoke the words of Washington and his staff, summarized in "victory or death. That is our only watchword."

Then, at 3 p.m., Washington and his colleagues, as portrayed by theatrical producer St. John Terrell and the seven nonprofessional actors, embarked for the Jersey shore. They crossed in a boat, copied in exact detail after the Durham craft Washington used, but only one-third the size of the original.

Terrell, as Washington, stood in the bow, strength in every facial line; round him was a heavy, sweeping blue cloak lined with scarlet. Behind him was an officer bearing the flag. The oarsmen bent in their harsh task. That's the way the historic scene is represented in Emanuel Leutze's famous painting. That's the way it was portrayed today.

The passage to the Jersey side and back was made in less than 15 minutes, without the shadow of a mishap, and in clear, crisp, mostly sunny weather. Officers of the Washington's Crossing Park Commission estimated that perhaps 4,000 persons watched from one side or the other.

After the spectacle was over those who took part, as well as park commission members, joined in a Christmas dinner party.

Terrell's brother actors were Horace White, a New Hope, Pa., high school pupil who impersonated William Lee, Washington's personal aide; Robert Walter, New York advertising man, playing Lt. James Monroe, who became the fifth president of the United States;

Lowell Birrell, New York attorney, as Col. Henry Knox, artillery officer. Knox weighed about 300 pounds and was placed in the stern for ballast; so was Birrell.

Driving is NOT a right ---

You Can Be RULED OFF THE ROAD

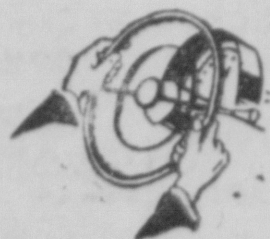

When you put the plates on your car and the driver's license in your wallet, you have met your state's requirements to drive. Without these, your time on the highway would be short-lived. It is the Motor Vehicle Department's way of saying, "So far as we can tell, you should be permitted to drive."

But from then on it is up to you. Respect the law and the rules of the road, drive so as not to endanger your life or the lives of others, and you may continue to drive. But—

Those licenses are not a right—they are merely qualified permission. They do not say you can weave over the highways intoxicated; that you can drive at dangerous speeds; or that you can commit any act that may endanger the public safety. You can't get away with it. Continued bad driving habits, sooner or later, will rule you off the road.

In one year 600,000 drivers had their licenses suspended or revoked—every third one for intoxication. Speeding and recklessness were also high on the list.

Remember—driving is not a right; it is a license which if abused can be withdrawn. Respect it and continue to drive—safely, sanely.
